Brother Green,

I thoroughly enjoyed our visit today.

Regarding Lee Kay: I tried to contact Virginia Kay Rowley, his eldest daughter. Their number and address has disappeared from the Salt Lake and Davis County phone directories. They may have bought a retirement home elsewhere. I will continue to look for her. The State Division of Wildlife Resources has no history of Lee Kay. All that they have is the dedication booklet. They are sending me a copy and I will give it to you when I see you. (See below.)

Some years ago my father wrote an article about the Heber Tithing office. James Heber Moulton, (b. 1848, handcart pioneer and son of Thomas ~~Denton~~ Moulton and Sarah Denton) was the clerk of the tithing office. Here is a copy of that article. Dad refers to Bishop William Forman. I do not know whether Bishop Forman was then Bishop of the Heber Ward or the Heber Second Ward at that time. My understanding is that he was also once Bishop of the Center Creek Ward.

Bishop Forman was remarkable. When he came from Scotland, he lived with Brigham Young for some time, and after Bishop Forman moved to Heber, Brigham Young would sometimes stay with him. Apparently (although Brigham Young was older), he and Bishop Forman were close.

Brigham Young often stayed with the Witts. (There was some Young/Witt relationship.) My grandmother, Janett Osborne Murdoch Mc Mullin tells of Brigham Young cleaning his teeth at the pump or the well.

Regarding the film for which I have searched for years: Vernon Murdock will know the name of his Witt Aunts who may know something. I phoned him several months ago, and he was going to look for the film. He recalled it

Also, years ago one of the Stake executive secretaries wrote me about the addendun which Mr. Kay made to include the Wasatch High School band. If you will let me have the address of the lady in Idaho who has the sword, I would like to write to her. It is just possible that Lee Kay gave her the film.

Two of our daughters are very interested in Heber City history. One lives in Provo. The other lives in Pennsylvania and will be here for several days in August. However, her schedule is already packed. If possible I would like to bring one or both of them and visit with you for an hour or two sometime in August or September.

Kindest regards,
